Speech production is made possible by the specialized movements of our vocal organs that generate speech sounds waves. Like all sounds production speech productions requires a source of energy.

The source of energy for speech production is the steady stream of air that comes from the lungs as we exhale. When we breathe normally, the air stream is inaudible.

To become audible, the air stream must vibrate rapidly. The vocal cords cause the air stream to vibrate. As we talk, the vocal cords open and close rapidly, chopping up the steady air stream into a series of puffs. These puffs are heard as a buzz. But this buzz is still not speech. To produce speech sounds, the vocal tract must change shape. During speech we continually alter the shape of the vocal tract by moving the tongue and lips, etc. These movements change the acoustic properties of the vocal tract, which is turn produce the different sounds of speech.

There are many reasons for both sides of the questions , “should we have printed advertisement?” Many people have strong views and feel that ads are nothing more than useless junk mail, while other people feel they are an important source of information.

Here some reasons why we should have advertisements in newspapers and magazines. One reason is ads give us information about what is new in the market. This is an easy way of shopping. Another reason is that advertisements promote business. When shop owners compete against each other the buyer saves money, mayor people come to their shops and they sell more goods.

On the other hand, some people argue ads should not be put in newspapers and magazines for these various reasons. Firstly, ads cost the shopkeepers a lot of money to print into paper. Also come people don't like finding junk mail in their latter boxes. People may also find the ads not very interesting . And also influence people to buy items they don't need and can't really afford. Ads use up a lot space and a lot of efforts has to be made to make the ads eye-catching. Ads also take up a lot of room in the papers and I don't think I find some of them interesting. In summary, although ads provide people with information, they cost a lot of money to print. Therefore I think, we should not have printed advertisement.

- E the competition of advertisements in newspaper

6. The third paragraph is mainly about.....

- A the information given by advertisements
- B the benefits of advertisements
- C the people who need advertisement
- D the bad of having advertisement on newspaper and magazines.
- E the ways to use advertisement

7. What is the functions of advertisements for a product company ?

- A it makes the product
- B it gives us information about the company
- C it promotes business, especially the product sale
- D it finds the new product for the company

E it gives inspiration for making the other product

8. According to the text, the following is NOT the reason why we should not have printed advertisement?

- A it needs a lot of money to print ads
- B it is an easy way to help shopping
- C it takes up a lot of space in the paper
- D some people don't like finding junk mail in their letter boxes.
- E It influences people to buy things they don't need

Spring, summer, autumn, winter the season change without fail. The Ancient Greek told a story of how the seasons came to be.

When the world was new, it was always summer. The goddess Demeter took care of the earth. She watered the plants and crops, and picked up flowers with her beautiful daughter Persephone.

Below the earth, Pluto was king of the underworld, where it was always dark and gloomy. Sometimes he climbed to the banks of the River Styx at the earth. One day he saw Persephone.

He had never seen anyone so beautiful and he fell in love with instantly, Pluto wanted Persephone to be his wife. Pluto harnessed his chariot. He snatched Persephone and thundered back to the underworld. "Don't be afraid" he said. I love you. I will make you my queen.

On earth, Demeter searched for Persephone and forgot all her work. When she had almost given up hope, she sat by the River Styx. The water whispered what had happened.

Demeter ran to the Zeus, the king of the Gods for help. "If Persephone eats anything in the underworld, she must stay, said Zeus. Let me send Hermes. My messenger to find out.

In the underworld, Persephone is nothing at all. One day Pluto held out peregriante. It smelled delicious, and when twelve seeds dropped into Persephone's hand, she lifted them to her lips.

Just at the moment, Hernes arrived in the underworld. "Stop!" he shouted. But it was too late.

Persephone had eaten half the seeds. "Now , you must stay here forever," said Hernes.

Finally, Zeus decided what would happen. "Because Persephone ate six seeds, she will live in the underworld for six month of the year. For the eater six months, she will return to her mother." That is why is spring and summer when Demeter is happy, the sun shines. In autumn, when Persephone goes back to the underworld, flowers die and trees shed their leaves as Demeter cries.

Alzheimer's disease (AD) is the most common cause of intellectual deterioration in middle-aged and elderly North Americans, affecting more than two and one-quarter million men and women over the age of 65. The usual symptoms of AD are memory loss and a progressive loss of mental faculties. Presently, there is no cure for Alzheimer's disease.

Once a person is affected by Alzheimer's, it becomes more difficult for the brain to perform its main functions. These changes in the brain are so intense and crippling that a person diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease usually dies within 10 years.

For a long time the symptoms of Alzheimer's disease (memory loss, slurred speech, and confusion) were thought to be the natural side effects of getting old. AD went unrecognized because victims often seemed physically healthy; it was just their memory and general mental performance that were affected.

22. 'AD went unrecognized because victims often seemed physically healthy.'

This text is for questions 25 to 28.

Thunderstorm, also known as an electrical storm or a lightning storm, is a form of weather characterized by the presence of lightning and its effect: thunder. It is usually accompanied by heavy rain and sometimes snow, hail, or no precipitation at all. Thunderstorms may line up in a series, and strong or severe thunderstorms may rotate.

Warm air has a lower density than cool air, so warm air rises within cooler air, similar to hot air balloons. Clouds form as warm air carrying moisture rises within cooler air. As the warm air rises, it cools. The moist water vapor begins to condense. When the moisture condenses, this releases energy that keeps the air warmer than its surroundings, so that it continues to rise. If enough instability is present in the atmosphere, this process will continue long enough for cumulonimbus clouds to form, which support lightning and thunder.

All thunderstorms, regardless of type, go through three stages: the cumulus stage, the mature stage, and the dissipation stage. Depending on the conditions present in the atmosphere, these three stages can take anywhere from 20 minutes to several hours to occur.

The first stage of a thunderstorm is the cumulus stage, or developing stage. In this stage, masses of moisture are lifted upwards into the atmosphere. The trigger for this lift can be insolation heating the ground producing thermals, areas where two winds converge forcing air upwards, or where winds blow over terrain of increasing elevation. The moisture rapidly cools into liquid drops of water, which appears as cumulus clouds. As the water vapor condenses into liquid, latent heat is released which warms the air, causing it to become less dense than the surrounding dry air. The air tends to rise in an updraft through the process of convection (hence the term convective precipitation). This creates a low-pressure zone beneath the forming thunderstorm. In a typical thunderstorm, approximately  $5 \times 10^8$  kg of water vapor are lifted, and the amount of energy released when this condenses is about equal to the energy used by a city (US-2002) of 100,000 during a month.

25. What does the text mainly tell?

- A. Warm air
- B. Water vapor
- C. Thunderstorm
- D. The mature stage
- E. The cumulus stage

26. “The moist water vapor begins to condense.” (Paragraph 2)

What does the underlined word refer to?

- A. The air
- B. Dry air
- C. Warm air
- D. Thunderstorm
- E. Convection process

28. What is the writer’s intent to write the text?

- A. To tell the danger of thunderstorm
- B. To explain how thunderstorm occurs
- C. To tell different kinds of thunderstorm
- D. To explain when thunderstorm happens
- E. To explain areas where thunderstorm takes place

Students' cheating is one of the biggest problems faced by teachers nowadays.

Despite the fact that teachers advise their students not to do dishonest acts during tests, some students still do cheating. There are many kinds of cheating that students do during the test or examination, such as looking other students' work, put some notes under their clothes, write notes or formulas on their desks, make hand signals or go to rest rooms to get the answers from their friends, and you name it.

In my view, students who do cheating are committing a crime. It is a sort of taking something illegally. This crime causes negative results to the students. Students who always cheat deteriorate their mental capacity. Cheating acts also create dependence. They weaken their self confidence. Instead of preparing for the coming test, they are busy to organize notes on a piece of paper. If this awful habit continues, the students will lose their opportunity to develop their intellectual and mind.

Therefore, school should consider cheating as a very serious problem. School board and administration should go hand in hand to overcome this matter. Honesty must be put in school's vision. Harsh punishment must be applied to students who commit this crime.

29. What is mainly discussed in the text?

- A. School policy
- B. Harsh punishment
- C. Mental deterioration
- D. Different ways of cheating
- E. Cheating, a very serious problem

30. "They weaken their self confidence." (Paragraph 3)

What does 'they' refer to?

- A. Tests
- B. Papers
- C. Results
- D. Students
- E. Cheatings

31. What will the school do to eliminate students who commit cheating?

- A. Create a good vision
- B. Select honest students.
- C. Make harsh punishment
- D. Make students confident
- E. Administer the school affair

32. 'Students who always cheat deteriorate their mental capacity.' (Paragraph 3)

The underlined word means ....

A few years ago, distance learning was seen as an inferior way but nowadays even famous and established traditional colleges and universities are providing distance learning courses and it is generally considered a way to improve one's life.

However, people still argue whether distance learning give more advantage or disadvantage. Some of them who see the benefit of distance learning will say that distance learning needs no commuting. Of course it saves money and time that students would take. Furthermore, distance learning can be done at any student's convenience. Mostly of the classes of distance learning are asynchronous. It means that students do not have to attend a lecture at a fixed particular time and place. Students can review the assignments and do their homework during off-hours or from home. Additionally, distance learning gives more accessibility. No one can deny it. People with limited mobility may encounter the problem when they take traditional class. With the online class system, the problem is absent.

Despite the many advantages, the other people will see that distance learning is costly and needs complex technology. To attend online learning, student must have a computer with possibly access to the Internet. Admitted or not, such technology devices are not always available for common students. Another disadvantage of distance learning is that it does not provide immediate feedback. Unlikely traditional classroom, students have to wait for the feedback and comment until the instructor has review the works and sent response to them. Most of the time students will study alone. Distance learners may feel isolated or miss that social physical interaction that comes with attending a traditional classroom.

Regarding the individual's learning style, some students are able to learn when there is a live interaction between them and the available of accompanying teacher while others don't really need it. So before deciding a choice of attending distance learning or not, each student needs to do a fair analysis regarding the kind of person he or she is.

33. What subject is discussed in the text?

- A. The benefit of distance learning
- B. The problem of distance leaning
- C. The shortcoming of distance learning
- D. The pros and cons of distance learning
- E. The appropriateness of distance learning
